Online Resources

The SRH Berlin University of Applied Sciences offers a wide range of online resources, which are arranged by subject area.

In the “Research” section of our homepage you will find free as well as licensed e-books, e-journals and databases, our online catalogue for printed media and e-books as well as OPUS - a digital record of publications by our university members.

For the use of our licensed offer it is urgently necessary to set up a proxy configuration URL. You can find a manual here. If you have difficulties with the installation, please contact our IT team.

Currently, all students have the possibility to create a personal account at Statista. Please register on the official registration page. When registering, please select the category "professional" and register with your university e-mail address in order to be assigned to the campus license.

Numerous free scientific publications can be found on the information platform Open Access. It offers a wide range of different online resources (journals, repositories, databases, ...).

The scientific networks ResearchGate and Academia also offer access to an internal database with scientific literature from various disciplines after a free registration.

If you need support in researching economics literature, you can contact the EconDesk team online. They offer help with literature research, database searches, definition of technical terms and provide information on companies and countries.

For independent research it is best to use scientific search engines such as BASE, EconBiz or Google Scholar.

An overview of scientific databases from libraries all over Germany can be found at DBIS. There you will find numerous free databases from different fields.

The electronic journal library EZB offers a complete overview of e-journals throughout Germany. Many titles are released for the SRH or freely available on the internet.

You can perform your searches as usual via the Technical University Library's knowledge portal Primo. Afterwards, you use "Open Access" as a filter and get an overview of all the resources you can access directly.

If you have a valid library card of the public libraries of Berlin, you also have the possibility to access the online offer of the VÖBB. Otherwise you have the possibility to get a free library card issued online. This card is valid for three months. It gives you access to all digital services of the public libraries.

The Staatsbibliothek zu Berlin – Preußischer Kulturbesitz offers a wide range of electronic resources. All those who do not yet have a library card can register online, initially until 30.04.2020.

In addition, the Nomos publishing house offers free access to all scientific contents of the Nomos and Tectum eLibraries until the end of April.

Springer Nature offers at this Link a range of textbooks with free access until the end of July. Just copy the DOI of the book you are interested in from the list into a new browser tab.

German language offers:

Rheinwerk-Verlag offers some free electronic books.

For all musicians: free downloads of journals by PPV-Verlag.

For leisure time: free magazines from publishing house Gruner + Jahr until 30.04.2020.
